plantations should any of his official acts be called in question, but this is not quite the same thing as supervision in its every day sense. The objection to the presence of heads of departments in the Executive Council seems, therefore, to rest on a very slender foundation, while, on the other hand, the advantages are very great. The duty of the Executive Council is to assist the Governor by its advice. A Governor must necessarily require advice on many things besides the supervision of his responsible officers. He requires advice on the various subjects which have to be dealt with by Orders in Council, on the public improvements that are to be adopted, and on the measures to be taken for promoting the well-being of the colony generally. The Governor himself comes to the colony, as a rule, stranger, unacquainted with its history, its conditions, or its requirements. The General comes also as a stranger, holds his office for a limited term, and is by virtue of his profession mainly interested in military matters. A stranger may also be appointed to the office of Colonial Secretary and in the office of Attorney-General, changes are not very frequent. Limiting the Executive Council to these members there is an obvious danger of there being found a lack of local experience in the guidance of the affairs of the colony. Had the Editor, not for publication, addressed his letter to the "Manager," and not to individuals by name.

NOTICE TO CORRESPONDENTS.

TELEPHONE NO. 12.

In an article on "The Chinese Times" we said—"It has been reported that he was displaced by the present occupant of that office in Tientsin, has returned to Peking and has given full explanations of his conduct to the Chinese. He is quite absolved from all suspicion of bad faith, double-dealing, or secret animosity to British interests. His conduct was, as far as he could act, in perfect accordance with the principles of his diplomatic position. He received instructions from Peking privately by telegraph to State to Sir John Walcham by the Yangtze, and did all he could to prevent them. As his successor is, to some extent at least, acting as intermediary between the Manchu and the Indian Government, the upshot may be that the influence of China can consequently become more real if the Chinese Resident plays his cards well."

Further enquiries have resulted in obtaining but little more information than has already appeared regarding the subject of Mr. S. He left Hongkong, as already stated, for Canton on Monday morning by the "Zoumen." On reaching the second bar about 1.10 p.m. he walked off on the sandbank and jumped off the vessel into the river. He was soon after picked up, and was smoking a cigar which he had been smoking when he leaped overboard. He was then seen by a sailor who was on deck, and it was immediately known that he was dead. He was then hoisted into the boat, and the crew were sent ashore to search for his body. The ship returned to the wharf, and then steamed away.

From the look-out from the upper deck, he was seen to sink.

As the ship was going full speed at the time, with a flood tide, some little time elapsed before the body was seen to sink, but nothing was seen of the body, although Mr. S. had a pipe in his mouth when he leaped overboard.

He was soon after picked up, and was smoking a cigar which he had been smoking when he leaped overboard.

He was then hoisted into the boat, and the crew were sent ashore to search for his body.

After about twenty minutes fruitless search the boat returned to the ship, which had now stopped.

The crew were then sent ashore to search for his body.

After about half an hour the body was recovered.

German opposition, he declared, was entirely responsible for the division which existed among the natives. It was important that at least the neutrality of the group should be assured. The German Press assert that steps have been taken by the Authorities at Berlin towards restoring order in Samoa.

Admiral Kimberly, commanding the American Asiatic Squadron, has ordered his forces to proceed to Samoa.

PUBLIC APOLOGY.

I, the undersigned YAMANAKA NAOSHICHI, CHI, Copper Merchant, Andoishi-hashi-dori, Michino-cho, Osaka, Japan, make the following declaration by way of an apology.

The mark (X) has been duly registered in the trade mark office of the agricultural and commercial department of Japanese Government in TOKIO, Japan, as the TRADE MARK of Mr. K. SUMITOMO, Copper Merchant, of Osaka, Japan, and has been used by him as much as possible in his tile copper. With full knowledge of the above fact, I have fraudulently used and stamped his trade mark on copper, after and inferior than his, and sold it together with his genuine tile copper to be exported to different parts of the world; for the infringement of the trade mark regulation I was indicted and tried by him in the Court of Japan, but before the judgment is given I have confessed him everything of the offence and confessedly asked him to let me go free. As the offence and release his claim, my request was kindly consented by him, so that I thought it to be my duty to make an apology to him and to the public in general to whom I have done so much injury; according to my desire of my free will and accord insert this public apology at my expense in the newspapers of all those places where there is market for his tile copper for a period of seven days.

YAMANAKA NAOSHICHI.

The Copper Merchant above named having fraudulently used Mr. K. SUMITOMO's trade mark, and having been tried in the judicial Courts of Japan for this dishonesty, we, the undersigned Copper Merchants in regard of our friendship to the above named YAMANAKA NAOSHICHI, have humbly begged Mr. SUMITOMO's kind consent to insert this apology to the public.

For the Committee of the said Copper Merchants,

M. KONDO.
